Building on Faith week this year is September 11-18. Each year, the focus is on church partnerships and stepping out in faith to do more than we ever dreamed possible. Habitat for Humanity celebrates its partnership with the faith community by encouraging affiliates to plan bold building projects with local church sponsors. During Building on Faith week, affiliates and churches around the world offer a profound expression of God's love.

In 2004, approximately 1700 churches from 14 countries built more than 300 houses as part of Building on faith celebrations. We, along with other affiliates, have planned a worship service to offer praise and thanksgiving for God's on Habitat's ministry.

With music to represent the foundations of our faith and the building blocks of our souls, we sing you a message today. We sing of hope, of peace, and of the strength that comes from doing something profound together. Only by building upon our faith, can we truly be free to give of ourselves to others. It is my wish that you will leave this place fulfilled by God's word and so energized by the spirit of togetherness and purpose that you spread this to everyone you meet and find yourself volunteering for any special cause that you have secretly longed to be a part of!
